

Welcome to The Men We Need

BIG IDEA

We all have a mission in this life. God longs for you to live into the mission He has, rather than your own. When we discover our mission through the Word, Spirit, and People of God, we find our life has deep, satisfying, and sustaining purpose.

HUDDLE UP

Over the next several weeks, we'll take time to get to know one another better. Some of you are new to these groups. Others have been together a while. Whichever is the case, we want to encourage you to take intentional steps to growing in knowing each other better.

A Place to Start...

- Basic details: family, career, likes, dislikes
- "The 3x3 Method" of Sharing your story (see APPENDIX A on page 30)
- Highs and Lows

Ideas to Go Deeper...

- Host a "525" Guys Day
- Talk about your "Hurts and Hang-ups"
- Discuss your "God-given Gifts and Opportunities"

FOR DISCUSSION

What do you think of the idea that your life has a mission? Has this ever occurred to you?

Some key pieces to understanding our mission are found in the existing roles, responsibilities, and relationships God has given us right now. What are some of those in your life?

Part of the power of this group will be the ability - in loving trust - to be honest about what's going on in your life, allowing God and others in your group a window into your heart. The more honest, the better. In that place of transparency, we hope to encourage you to take proactive steps toward growing in love with God and with others.

To that end, we want to spend time in our groups talking about what we have been doing and are going to do to grow.
